Smart Cooling in the Tropics participant profile

Ann Brown

Ann is one of the 300+ households benefiting from COOLmob's Smart Cooling in the Tropics project. A free energy assistance program for low income households living in Darwin and surrounding areas.

Ann is one of the projects lowest consumers of energy in the program and consumes 60% less power than the Darwin average. Her previous electricity usage was below average using just 11kWh per day. With the help of COOLmob she could see that drop down again to an even lower 9kWh per day.

Ann's low energy consumption habits have been very valuable to the research arm of the project.

Tropical Garden Spectacular Evaluation

COOLmob had a fantastic time coordinating the Community Village at the 2015 Tropical Garden Spectacular.

It was fun packed weekend with a full talking circle program, cooking and gardening workshops with local sustainability legends, interstate experts and up to 4100 visitors to the Community Village.

A very special thanks to our incredible volunteers and amazing trader's Gypsy Coffee and Love Thy Juice for keeping the crowds (and us) fuelled and refreshed.
