

Green your workplace

Greening your work place benefits you, your colleagues and your bottom line!

Your workplace sustainability guide:

Just like in the home there are many ways in which you can improve the environmental performance of your workplace. The advantages of investing in an environmentally sustainable organisation include:

1. Cost savings by reducing energy and water consumption
2. Attraction and retention of staff by having a healthier working environment and increased productivity levels
3. An improved carbon footprint which will boost your organisation's reputation for taking responsibility and acting on environmental issues
